Di Wu, based in New York, continues to increase her international status with debuts and re-engagements on four continents. She made her professional debut at the age of 14 with the Beijing Philharmonic and her debut in the United States with the Philadelphia Orchestra in 2009. She has since been heard with American orchestras in such cities as Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Boston, Seattle and Cincinnati, collaborating with such conductors as Charles Dutoit, Ludovic Morlot, Yu Long and Christoph Eschenbach. In addition to orchestra engagements, Ms. Wu is also a sought after recitalist. In New York, she has appeared at Carnegie Hall and Alice Tully Hall at Lincoln Center, and she has also performed in such music centers as Chicago, Houston, Los Angeles and San Francisco, as well as at the Gilmore International Keyboard Festival, Ravinia Festival and the Portland Piano Festival.

Ms. Wu's recording of Brahms' "Variations on a Theme of Paganini, Books I and II" received praise from Musical America, the critic wrote, "Her account of the Brahms is amazing. She takes all the difficult options (her glissandos are unbelievable!), and she conjures from the piano absolutely gossamer, violinist textures, joyous humor, and brilliant air-borne tempos."

Recent highlights include Ms. Wu's first appearance in Minsk and Moscow; a visit to Mexico for three concerts; and a tour of twenty concerts in Asia, during which she played both the Rachmaninoff Second and Grieg concertos in major cities such as Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, Seoul, Harbin, Tianjin and Taipei.
